Belgians For The Pythons, Lion Gets Leg of Veal, Tigers Get Peking Dack.

While Daytonians are revelling in the Christmas luxuries of turkey stuffed with ovsters, cranberry sauce and guava jelly broiled pompano or Spanish mackerel, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, green beans and peas, guavas and strawherries, and numerous other good things found daily on the local market, it is interesting to turn your thoughts upon the things the animal world would enjoy for the glorious Christmas day. It has been a comparatively short time since the very site of this interesting, hustling city was roamed by the beasts

Many Daily News readers have visited the Cincinnati Zoological garden, one of refrained from. the finest in the world, and have viewed with interest the large collection of wild heasts. This is a partial bill of fare for some of the great Zoo characters:

In the lion house Brutus will be given a leg of veal. This is an expensive delleacy and is only fed Brutus one day in the year. Paul, one of the other lions, will have a quantity of liver, of which he is very fond, and four big porterhouse steaks as entrees. Little Romeo, the baby lion will be given pigeon broth.

The tigers, Tascha, and Felis, are going to have stuffed Peking duck and Sheriff Turner Provides The Unsome meat, and the elephants, Hatnee and Wanda, are to have loaves of bread noaked in molasses, apples and any amount of hay they desire.

The raccoons and o'possums will be given some Florida palmetto berries, WIA III paw-paws and some persimmons.

The ostriches will be given a bucket or two of young oysters in the shell Even the unfortunate inmates of the along with raw peanuts and other nuts county jail at DeLand relish the joys of Beach street invariably stop and look with admiration upon the bright roses in the well kept surroundings at the Commodore Burgoyne residence. It has long been one of the beauty spots of Beach street.

It was for many years contended that cheer. roses would not thrive in this climate and soil. Quite the reverse is t u, as is being abundantly demonstrated every day. Take a stroll down Palmetto avenue and see one of the grandest specimens of the Cherokee rose-a native Floridian--you ever feasted your eyes upon. It was transplanted there a com parative'y few years ago and has since encompassed everything in sight. Had a trellis been built 50 feet across and the rose push trained to cover it it would have been equal to the task. This specimen is worth going miles to see. Com-

The Prince George.

Managers Hilyard and Holroyd of the Prince George will aim to make their first Christmas in Daytona one to be remembered, and the guests at that place were promised a dinner that is gotten up only in the best of hostelries.

The Ridgewood.

O. D. Livingston, of Boston, arrived at The Ridgewood yesterday.

The annual Christmas dinner will be served at The Ridgewood to the early season guests, and a pleasant afternoon and evening is anticipated.

Schmidt's Hotel.

Extensive preparations had been made at this popular house for the proper observance of Christmas, and at the appointed hour, 7:30, the large dining room was thrown open and the guests and a few invited friends filed in to behold a beautiful Christmas tree bedazzled with myriads of lights and tinseled with all the colors of the rainbow. The tree was fairly groaning with its load of remembrances, among which were many of value. Every one was remembered, and young and old were thoroughly pleased with the efforts of the management for their entertainment.

Despland Hotel.

J. F. Seitner of Washington, D. C. and F. D. Stiddam of New York were the arrivals at The Despland Thursday. Theo. Dunn and wife of Orange, N. J., and C. E. Hazeltine and wife of New York formed a jolly fishing party from The Despland yesterday. The party went to the Keating casino, where they had remarkable luck, making a fine catch. However, the afternoon's sport was somewhat marred by the fact that Mr. Dunn lost his pole which he valued very highly.

The Despland has a large number of guests for this time of the season, and accordingly the Christmas menus prepared under the direction of Manager Waite will be generous, in keeping with Christmas Melons.

J. H. Johnson brought in a couple of water melons Thursday from the Brubaker farm in the western part of the city and put them on exhibition at Norman S. Dayton's and R. L. A Tart Answer.

A young and newly married couple were entertaining their friends, and among the guests was one whose confork a piece of meat which had been served to him, and in a vein of intended humor he looked round and re-"Is this pig?"

This immediately drew forth the remark from a quiet looking individual sitting at the other end of the table: "Which end of the fork do you refer to?"-London Graphic.
